

RULING PUTS MATLOVICH BACK IN U.S. AIR FORCE

ERA lobbyist to fight conviction

SPRINGFIELD, IL (AP) - A former National Organization for Women (NOW) volunteer vowed that she will fight her bribery conviction for trying to persuade an Illinois lawmaker to vote in favor of the Equal Rights Amendment. "I feel like fighting," Wanda Brandstetter of Chicago said after the verdict was returned. "I will never give up." Brandstetter 55, faces a possible sentence of seven years in prison and a $10,000 fine. She was convicted of offering Republican Rep. Nord Swanstrom a $1,000 campaign donation if he would vote in favor of the ERA. A jury of eight women and four men deliberated more than seven hours before returning with the guilty verdict. But the jury acquitted Brandstetter on a lesser charge of soliciting Swanstrom to commit official misconduct. Jurors later refused comment.

Sister-brother defense attorneys John and Sheila Murphy were outraged by what they called the "inconsistent" split verdict and infuriated by what they called "prosecutorial misconduct" by State's Attorney J. William Roberts. Ms. Murphy's voice quivered as she asked Circuit Judge Jeanne Scott in a midnight hearing to throw out the bribery conviction. Scott refused and said nerves were too frayed to hold a full-fledged post-trial hearing. The judge scheduled a hearing Oct. 10. If she then refuses to set aside the conviction, sentencing would be Nov. 7. The Murphys contended that in legal terms it was impossible for someone to try to bribe a lawmaker but not solicit him to commit official misconduct. They said that if Brandstetter was innocent on one count, she should be innocent on both. "The jury obviously compromised," Murphy said. "That's all it was, a compromise."

Assistant State's Attorney Stuart Shiffman said it's legal for an Illinois jury to return verdicts that "appear inconsistent on their fact." But he said they are not inconsistent because bribery and solicitation are "two separate acts." The Murphys also claimed Roberts overstepped his bounds in his final arguments when he told jurors: "We're not asking for blood in this. We're not asking for prison. We're asking for a conviction." Scott admonished Roberts and told the jury that only she had the power to set the sentence if there was a conviction. The government alleged Brandstetter offered Swanstrom a bribe on May 14 amid heated lobbying by hundreds of ERA supporters. They had descended on the State Capitol for a planned vote on the proposed constitutional amendment outlawing sex discrimination.

WASHINGTON, DC - Private citizen Leonard Matlovich is once again Sergeant Leonard Matlovich, USAF. In a decision in Federal court here Tuesday, September 9, Matlovich was reinstated in the Air Force with full back pay and benefits.

Discharged in the fall of 1975 for being a homosexual, Matlovich has been fighting for his reinstatement ever since. He has spoken at many Gay events since his discharge and is classified as a Gay activist. The Air Force can still appeal the decision and as of press time had made no indication as to what its stand will be. Matlovich viewed the decision by Federal Judge Gearhart Gazelle as having wide-spread reaction among the thousands of Lesbians and Gay men presently in the service as well as those who have been discharged because of their homosexuality.

Gay delegates to press ahead

by Ira Estis

NEW YORK, NY - At the conclusion of the Democratic Convention, Gay delegates met to organize a continuation of their efforts through the fall campaign. According to Jack Campbell, a Kennedy delegate from Florida's 15th Congressional district, he, Ginny Apuzzo of Brooklyn, NY and Tom Bastow met with two Gay political consultants from Los Angeles and Carter campaign strategists. The purpose of the meeting was to determine what role Gays will play, if any, in the upcoming Carter-Mondale campaign against Republican Ronald Reagan.

Campbell reports that the Gays attending the meeting asked the Carter staff to establish a "Gay desk" at campaign headquarters to assist in answering Gays' questions regarding the President's policies and positions as they relate to national Gay concerns. The Carter staff replied that "special interest" desks would not be utilized in the 1980 campaign. They did acknowledge though, that "special interest" personnel were working in the campaign on black, Latin and women's concerns. The Carter staff present agreed to review the request with senior level campaign officials and the White House, and to report back to the Gay Caucus. As of this writing the Caucus is still awaiting a response.

Mr. Campbell indicated that the Gay Caucus also asked the White House to consider advertising in Gay

URBAN COWBOY - GAY COWBOY ?????

HOLLYWOOD, CA - Motion picture theater owners were disappointed this summer in such ballyhooed big-name films as "Bronco Billy" with Clint Eastwood, "Brubaker" with Robert Redford, "Rough Cut" with Burt Reynolds, and "Urban Cowboy" with John Travolta. These four were scheduled to be shown all summer in first-run houses, hoping to attract the out-of-school teenagers who comprise the largest segment of moviegoers. Each has done poorer at the box office than anticipated, and a variety of reasons have been advanced for their failure.

Most amusing is the explanation of a California theater manager concerning John Travolta's latest film. "The problem with 'Urban Cowboy' the manager told Intelligence Report, 'lies in the title. Kids don't know what 'irgan' means. I've asked dozens of them for their definition, and they say they think it means Gay or homosexual. Who wants to see a movie called 'The Gay Cowboy?'"

BUSH ON GAY PEOPLE

NEW YORK, NY (GayLife) - George Bush, Republican Vice-Presidential candidate, stated in New York Magazine that, "Yeh...well, maybe I could accept homosexuals in White House staff positions if they were positions for which they were uniquely qualified." Bush then paused and seemed at a loss to elaborate which positions he might consider unique.

BRITISH PROTEST IRANIAN TREATMENT

LET'S ALL GO TO MUNICH

MUNICH, WEST GERMANY (GayLife) - A spokesperson for the police in Munich has said that Munich has become the "meeting place for European homosexuals." The spokesperson added, "It's a pity."

STUFF IT PHYLLIS

BOSTON, MA (GCN) - Anti-Equal Rights Amendment gadfly Phyllis Schlafly has refused to accept the "Turkey of the Year" award from the National Organization for Women (NOW) saying her selection was simply "sour grapes."

The Boston Globe reports that Schlafly turned down the frozen turkey, a Certificate of Demerit, and instructions on where to put it. Schlafly reportedly responded to the NOW turkey gesture with the traditionally domestic view that's made her famous: "Turkey is a specialty at my house. If it was a good turkey, I would have been happy to take it with me, but it would have been hard to take it back on the airplane. The turkey is a very fine bird. I don't know why they're kicking the turkey around."

PLLC finalizing plans for ARC

PHOENIX - The Phoenix Levi and Leather Club (PLLC) announced today the donation of all proceeds from their 3rd annual Art Show and Sale will be given to the Alternative Relations Center (ARC) Building Fund.

The Art Show Committee is finalizing plans for their annual show which has emerged as one of the leading city-wide events for artists in all media. PLLC membership also voted to participate in the ARC fund raising weekend to be held November 7, 8 and 9 by providing a shuttle service between all participating bars for the entire weekend.

The above two fund raisers are in addition to the club's already announced $1,000 challenge (see page two). The PLLC drive for the Building Fund has made this organization the most active, as of this date, in the Phoenix Gay community's endeavor to purchase the house that is functioning as the ARC Center.

JANUS auditions this weekend

PHOENIX - Auditions for Janus Theatre's fall production of Lane Bateman's serious-comedy "Lying In State" will be held at the Alternative Relations Center, 518 W. Willetta, this Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 13 and 14 from 2 to 6 p.m. Associate producer Dennis Bell and director Richard Camino cordially invite Valley actors and actresses to audition for the four male and four female roles available. A brief analysis of each character in this fast-paced comedy follows:

Eric is in his early thirties. He is not handsome but it takes two careful looks to notice. His teeth are near perfect and his smile shows that he knows it. He is bright, witty and sometimes shy with a good sense of humor. Eric is Gay with straight hangups. He is a student of mortuary science.

Jean is a busybody neighbor from Utah. She is young, cute, and very pregnant. She works in the office of the Registrar in order to put her husband through college.

Paul is in his late twenties. He is tall, thin, dark-haired and wears a moustache. Paul has been fired from

PHOENIX BAR HOPPING.....

PHOENIX - Sunday, Sept. 7, was a real red letter day for the West side. The Grand Camel at 5105 North 43rd Avenue was officially opened and what an opening it was! The bar itself is one of the most beautifully decorated bars in the city of Phoenix. The multi-leveled floor which blocks off different sections is a marvelous idea. The homey atmosphere of the top level with the fireplace and dance floor is sectioned with a living room setting with couches and chairs. Thank God the music is not deafening. It's soft enough for background music yet loud enough for dancing for those who want to. And a separate room for the pool table is the best idea anyone has ever had. Personally, pool tables deserve their very own room in all bars for those aficionados so inclined. Owner Bill Reinke should be proud of his crew from manager Jim to Bobbie the cook. Unfortunately, I wasn't able to have dinner there but from all the comments around, Bobbie does herself proud. Glancing at the dinner menu, the choice is well rounded, but compact enough not to confuse. Little BJ and John to serve the drinks and Big BJ, Moon, Pat to make them round out the employee list. Anyone forgotten? My apologies, and please tell me. So, if you have an evening of extra time, please take a little time and visit the Grand Camel. It's really not that far out of the way and it's well worth the trip.

Talked to D.L.'s show director Christi Lunden the other day and heard that this weekend is the start of a slow change over in show format. Many production numbers, some camp, some serious, some old, some new, will be added. Sounds good to me. And if you haven't seen the new addition to the show Herman Joseph, you are in for a treat. Finally, someone to heckle Christi besides the audience, who usually get really nasty, which always proves to be in bad taste. This Friday and Saturday night, their special guest star will be Bobbi Jo. She always proves to be well received and deserves all the praise and applause she gets. Along with Christi and Bobbi Jo, Lady T., Erica Erotica and newest member Melissa York will be performing.

Sammy's Steak House and Saloon will be opening soon and as soon as I hear more about it, I'll tell you.

...Lois J. has decided that 7-14-21 do not mix well with salt water.

...Norma Jean is hoping for a better celebration of her birthday than the one Gary Y. had.

Perspective

This is very hard for me to write. I find it easier to provide assistance than to ask for it. For those of you who do not know me, let me introduce myself. My name is Jason Wittman. I am a social worker with extensive experience working with drug and alcohol dependent people, street kids and Gay identified youths. For the past three years, I have been working with the Gay-identified youths of Phoenix. My organization is called Youth Supportive Services of Phoenix (YSSP) and it is sponsored by the United Parents and Friends Group, Inc., the formal name for our parents of Gays group.

I am the director and its only worker. I function as the advisor of the Gay youth of Arizona youth group which has approximately 75 active and inactive members. I am available to them and their friends for counseling, 24 hours of every day, via my home and mobile phones. I also work with the street hustlers. I provide, for those who request it, whatever assistance is necessary to help them escape that environment. Usually this means employment and educational counseling, GED tutoring, crisis counseling and for the younger ones, who are usually runaways and castaways finding them foster parents. Yes, those ads you have seen in the AGN for permanent jobs and foster parents for Gay youths are mine). Our foster parent program requires me to screen the potential parents to make sure that they will provide room and board and loving concern and that they will not make any sexual demands on the youth. I also have to match parents to youths, provide weekly counseling follow-up sessions, and get forms signed by the youth's parents allowing the foster parents to act on their behalf. In addition to all the above, I visit Gay youths in jail, provide transportation to job interviews, hospital emergency rooms, etc.; consult with guidance counselors, probation officers, lawyers, parents; and because of the lack of foster parents, I have taken into my own home upwards of six youths at a time.

My purpose for describing my work in such detail is not to toot my horn for your praise. I get my good feelings from watching these kids grow to their full potential. The reason is that I desperately need your help because, you see, "the rest of the story" is that all that I have just described, which is a full days work by any standard, is volunteer work, done after I get home from my regular job. I have a business of repairing windshields which I work all day, seven days a week to be able to make ends meet. Frankly the ends are not meeting and I am nearly broke and energy-wise, this is too much for any one person.

My dream is that someday soon, we will be able to provide a facility where Gay kids, who do not have supportive parents and who are homeless, can live. A place where they can get all the supportive services they need to be able to make the best of their lives. It is not their fault that they are Gay and it is outrageous that they have any less opportunity to succeed than their non-Gay counterparts.

I have shown, over the past three years, that there is a dire need for these services and that my ways of providing them are successful. As a one-person show, I am only dealing with the tip of the iceberg, and I am spread so thin that I am not able to do as much as I should to assist those already requesting services. Television is, with increasing frequency, getting the message across that being Gay is OK. This means that kids are, now, and in the future many more will be, coming out at earlier ages. Coming out at 13 thru 15 is not uncommon right now! They will need our assistance.

Specifically, your help is needed in the following areas: (1) to research and write grant proposals; (2) public relations and advertising people to plan and coordinate a fund raising program (possibly on a national scale); (3) mental health professionals to supplement the counseling effort; (4) lawyers to assist both the program and our young clients; (5) teachers to teach the G.E.D.; (6) people, especially Lesbians, to help advise the youth group; (7) people with administrative, business and secretarial skills to help in those areas; (8) couples, either Gay or non-Gay, to be foster parents; and (9) business people to hire Gay youths.

The biggest single need is for on-going donations of money. I have been averaging over $300 a month, just for food. I have recently been having to tell kids that they will just have to stay on the street and hustle, because I just cannot afford to take care of them. (It was having to say that, that finally got me to write this letter). I have also had couples who said that they would like to take in a youth, but they could not afford to. Right now there are two wonderful individuals who have pledged monthly support of $50 to $100. I estimate that approximately $300 a month is needed to adequately provide Chlo is in her mid-twenties. She is well-built and beautiful even if her hair is too short. Her legs are a little too muscular. She has studied dancing. Chlo is dutiful, practical and the peacemaker. She and Rae are lovers.

Justine is in her forties, nice looking and tanned. She tends to overdress. She is Chlo's mother. Justine has a way of saying "no" that sounds like "yes". She could be described as a cross between Cloris Leachman and Dodie Goodman.

Clayton is a fifty-year-old gentleman cattle rancher who looks y ounger. His western suit and expensive cowboy boots tell one he is obviously rich. He has been drinking and booze makes him a playful "redneck".

One might logically ask: Where was an organization similar to the Alternative Relations Center when I was growing up Gay and alone? How many Gay growing pains did I suffer in abject silence? Where was the Gay assistance and information I desperately needed? Where could I go for realistic counseling during my troubled moments to alleviate my personal agonies? Who was there to help me when my parents kicked me out of "our" home because I was Gay?

Today! Now! ARC provides the personal assistance, answers the troublesome questions, provides the counseling and simply listens to those Gays who need empathetic understanding.

Over the years, some of us have totally or partially overcome the personal and prejudicial obstacles put in our way without the assistance of a Gay community center. We have managed to survive with scars well hidden, but not altogether forgotten. Others have been fortunate to have private wealth. Many have had the opportunity of an advanced academic degree where their professionalism has few Gay restraints. However, there are thousands who are presently unable to cope with their new or existing Gayness. Who find themselves overwhelmed by fear, uncertainty and the hateful ignorance of their "straight" counterparts. Unfortunately, far too many take the road of least resistance. An over dose!

The problems of the mature Gays are equally as multitudinous as the young Gay just realizing his/her sexual preference. Loneliness drowned by too many nightly alcoholic drinks. Lack of understanding. Indifference by younger Gays. Rejection. The list is endless.

ARC is attempting to assist with a Mature Gay program which is expending efforts to reach those isolated members of the community.

The Alternative Relations Center was conceived to counter daily fears, personal misunderstanding and public prejudice. To assist the Gay community is its primary goal. And to that end, ARC has consistently grown and succeeded.

Probably for the first time, the Phoenix Gay community has the distinct opportunity to collectively unite in a cohesive entity to assist ARC achieve its $75,000 fund raising effort to locate a permanent residence in which to continue its present social service programs, as well as to expand to meet all the needs of the Gay community.

Gay people can support one another, survive and grow. People who love someone Gay, friend or mate, can help. Everyone's assistance is needed. How about yours?

VIEWPOINT

TOWARDS A NEW MORALITY:

WHAT COLOR IS YOUR HANDKERCHIEF?

Ten Speed

Not so long ago, many Gay people were leading lonely, isolated lives--truly in a closet. Now people are getting rich from the sale of colored handkerchiefs alone. A fortune is being made by the leather shops and the proliferation of sexual gadgetry is unbelievable.

There has been a sexual revolution. Gays who came out in the 50's, 60's, and even up to the early 70's state that they wish they had the opportunities Gays now have. Certainly, people of all sexual preferences are now getting more sex than ever. There is more freedom, both politically and sexually, for all of the people in the country. But is this making anyone any happier? Does going from bed to bed to bed contribute to our personal growth? Are we merely becoming 'narcissist', concerned only with the number of orgasms we can have in one night? One can understand that with all the repression Gays have faced that the desire to express themselves wherever and whenever possible--both their sexual ability and sexual poweress--can be great. But what do we do when the fist-fucking stops.

It is a cliché, but often a homosexual is his own worst enemy. Gay people spend more time and effort putting each other down, especially segments of their own community they are afraid of or do not understand. How often have you heard a straight-looking Gay man put down a male in drag? Or someone into leather put down an effeminate man? Gay life is so full of plastic people and plastic cliques. It is a life with its own special codes and languages. This is simply a reflection of guilt, shame, and fear. It shows both a lack of respect for homosexuals in general and for the individuals own sexual orientation.

A straight person so often experiences only the superficial aspect of the Gay lifestyle. Color coded handkerchief, keys on the left or right side of your body, etcetera. This can all be very difficult for them to understand, especially at a crucial moment when we would like them to accept our credibility.

These aspects of "costume Gayness" rob us of our individuality. The lumber jackets, adidas tennis shoes, gym shorts, and pencil thin mustache may look great--but what do they all really mean. Gay is good just as black is beautiful, but they can also be bad and ugly. Homosexuals have a sense of pride and awareness, but coming out of the closet is not enough. You can come out of the closet and still be a mess. The new morality can provide a lot of sexual hijinks, but our lifestyles must encompass values, self respect, and responsibility. Without these factors in the new morality, it becomes simply another name for anarchy.

What do we do when the fist-fucking stops? Just meow and purr? Do we get dressed and tuck in our red hankies? Being Gay can be incredible, exciting, and stimulating. But it is not the end-all to all of the problem and questions an individual will face in life. Accepting your sexuality is only the first step; life offers so many other possibilities publications, and having Vice President Mondale, if not the President, campaign in Gay neighborhoods across the country. Several Democratic Party officials acknowledge Gay support in New York, California and Florida will be critical if the Carter-Mondale ticket is to win these states. Each state has large electoral college votes crucial to the Democrats if they are to offset the Republicans in the West, mid-West and parts of the Southern United States.

The Gay Caucus also resolved to continue to support voter registration projects nationwide, become involved in the Democratic Party's mid-term convention in 1982, and to triple the number of Gay delegates elected to participate in the 1984 Presidential nominating convention.

TUCSON - The summer session of the Community Bowling League is over and the STRIKERS were the top team in the league. In addition Jim Larrabee of The Strikers had the highest average and also the highest scratch series. Congratulations.

CACTUS CORNER

by Jim Larrabee

TUCSON - On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 7, twenty-eight members of the Community Bowling League and their guests met for a banquet and awards ceremony, celebrating a successful summer kegling season. Though rain halted the planned volleyball action for about 45 minutes, everyone remained patiently engaged in conversation while soaking up the suds. The cuisine was basic, but well prepared and tasty. Thanks goes to Lloyd, Tony, Gilbert and Monte for their special efforts, in that department; and to Al, David and Gilbert who served the courses.

Appreciation is here given to Charles for contributing the keg. Special recognition is due Rich for being a splendid host and providing such pleasant surroundings. Unfortunately, an oversight prevented the trophies from actually being handed out that day, but they will be later. Monte-Jon went ahead with his monologue anyway spiced with humor and satire. Award recipients and their respective categories were:

- 1st place - THE STRIKERS
- 2nd place - THE EMPIRE
- 3rd place - COCO'S ANGELS
- Best Attendance - THE ODD SQUAD

- Highest average - Jim Larrabee (162)
- Highest Scratch Game - Geo. Plentzas (207)
- Highest Scratch Series - Jim Larrabee (564)
- Highest Hdcp. Game - Doc Hayes (244)
- Highest Hdcp. Series - Johnny Lorton (631)
- Most Improved Bowler - Lloyd Bonner
- Best Sport - Eddie Smith

Most of us who bowled this summer are returning for the fall league to be held at 9:00 Wednesday evenings on the Cactus Bowling Lanes (53-60) starting September 10th. Opening may exist after this initial meeting. For information call Jim Larrabee at 745-1464 after 4:30 p.m. M-F.

A. I would have to say YES. Good property can always be sold quickly if you must liquidate or you can refinance the property to get cash and still enjoy the benefits of ownership.
Q. I'm new in town wanting to buy a home. Who do I call?
A. Me. I'm a member of Tucson Multiple Listing Service and can show and sell most houses in town. You'll get good service and straight facts about the property you like.

The Novel Writers, by Emily Sisley. Mosaic Press, Tucson, AZ. 78 p. Paperback - $2.95

"The Novel Writers" starts out rather vague but ends up on a note of self-realization, self-love, self-worth - in short, all the things that make a truly positive affirmation of "coming out". The characters, comprised of mostly trendy New York Ph. D's who stay in their closets out of economic necessity and tend to over-intellectualize everything from simple affection to the death of one of their cronies mates. Toby, a nursery school teacher and administrator who is married for the sake of her closeted - heterosexual image, over-expounds on her recently deceased husband. It's just that the dumb son-of-a-bitch was so straight! That seems to sum up most of the attitudes of the characters in The Novel Writers - narrow minded homosexuals who fear the wrath of God. In this case the wrath of God seems to be big business, boards of directors of school, hospitals or anything in straight society that can pull the plug out of their illustrious, affluent lives.

The Novel Writers are made up of a group of friends who are over-educated and seem to socialize with no one else other than the group. At one point, one of their friends, Millard, decides to write a novel of his own. The group describes Millard as a rather oafish, likeable but definitely a non-word person (a non-word person being someone who doesn't really contribute to the ideal structure set up by this particular group.) When Millard decides to write his own novel, the theme is - well you guessed it - the group itself. Everyone is totally horrified to the point of being catatonic. Millard is quickly brought to terms by this group of pseudo free-thinkers. Not only is he brought to terms but also cast aside after many years with the group. Cast aside as one might do to an old shoe. Sounds pretty gruesome, right? All is not that negative and much of the book is extremely positive - well, towards the ending anyway.

Emily Sisley, the authoress, currently resides in Tucson and does quite well by this book, especially the way she puts professional closeted Gays into making their own sort of family structure - somewhat nuclear in behavior. Also the way she makes each character react to their own coming out process. Although I felt more attention should have been paid to the individual coming out process for each character, as well as more information on what makes her people tick would have helped. In short, it was just a little too short. I think that where my disappointment came because the story line characters are so fresh and involve the reader so much that I was ready to learn more from this bright and thought-provoking novelist.

I really consider The Novel Writers as more of a long story rather than a novel. But don't get me wrong, this is an excellent read, and Ms. Sisley handles her choice of words with verve and candor, and loads of insight. This one is surely going to make you think. A great book for someone who places their pocketbooks and education where their Gayness should be.

Right now I see fund drives for Cambodians, Cubans, Muscular Dystrophy, etc. It seems to me that we should take care of our own before we donate to all the other good causes. These Gay youth are our responsibility. If you were growing up now, any of these youths could be you. In this hilarious and often moving account of gay life in New York City—part narrative, part autobiography—we meet Danny Slocum, a young gay man with a problem: sex. Sex that he doesn't want and can't find—"even in an era when gay life is, if anything, overpopulated." Preoccupied with the subject but dysfunctional, Danny finds a cure in the form of sex therapy with a complete stranger... but this is only part of his story. In the course of his CONFESSIONS he takes us on a sometimes bumpy but always entertaining trip through the varied life of gay New York.

TRIXIE TELLS ALL

By

Baroness Trixie Von Sleute

PHOENIX - My, my, my it has been a very busy week for the "old Baroness". The week started with the opening of Trax, then the Connection Luau, thru Cabaret Night at Unlimited, the Taylor's Wednesday night dinner, VIP party at Grand Camel and concluded with the show at Harpo's. I have made appearances at all of these and still had time to tip a scotch and water or two at Farrah's. I have a lot to tell you this week, so let's get started.

HOW SWEET THEY ARE - Since this is a new column I want to recognize several bar employees who make our visits to the establishments enjoyable. Each week I hope to recognize one outstanding bar employee. This week the outstanding couple are Bud - the cute, mustachioed ever pleasant bartender and Indian fried bread cook - for just being an all around nice person. Darryl is the "new" kid on the block. He hasn't been bartending very long but he does a great job. And then there is Rick, one of my favorite waiters in Phoenix. He is efficient, pleasant and gives great table service. All three of these people make it a pleasure for more than an occasional stop at Tommy and Clyde's Fatfingers. Also stop by to see sweet Linda, bartender at Full Moon on Saturdays and Sundays. She really makes guys feel welcome. A tip of the old tarnished tiara to each of you.

No one should miss two gala upcoming events at Harpo's, Phoenix's premier show bar. The fantastic and incomparable Cissy Goldberg will be appearing in the show-room with two shows nightly, 9:30 and 11:30 on Sunday, Sept. 14, Thursday, Sept. 18 and Sunday, Sept. 21. Reservations are definitely a must. Call 258-1624 to make sure you have a spot to sit. Grand opening for the entire Harpo's complex of game room, show room, bar and disco will be held Thursday, September 25. Doors open at 8:30 p.m. with free champagne and featuring Penelope Poope and the Poopettes in the show room. Mark the calendars for these great events as only Harpo's is famous for.

...Del S. thinks the song "Silence is Beholding" and the perfume Cold Shoulders go well together with a bouquet.

Forum-Boardwalk hosts the 1980 Macho Man contest, Sunday, Sept. 14. Contest begins at 9 p.m. with contestant registration at 8:30 p.m. There will be a $100 cash prize to the winner. You don't want to miss all of those gorgeous men parading around in their very brief briefs. I'll be there planting like the old troll I am.

People and Persons Fall Bowling League is now in full swing. Information about bowling is available from Ron Farrah at Farrah's Lounge. Give Ron a call at 957-2820.

Whenever you're hungry don't forget dinner at Aunt Charlie's or Grand Camel.

IN MY OPINION - At the outset I mentioned several events I have attended during the past week. I now offer you what I feel are a few of my very candid but fair observations..... The opening of Trax, a man's bar, was an intimate affair. The owners have turned the plastic of Bullwinkle's into the warmth of the old West and Trax. The atmosphere is definitely country from wooden floors to a game room behind the old western storefront. In addition to the regular bar, another has been added in the former game room. I felt very comfortable at Trax and I think anyone would. There is taped music and you can dance if you like. Everything is very much "do your own thing" with pinballs and 2 pool tables. George and the other owners should be commended on a job well done. Trax has the potential of giving several bars in this city a run for their money.

Dale Williams and all the Connection employees once again outdid themselves on the 3rd Annual Luau held August 31. I don't know how they do it every year. I mean, 40 tons of sand to haul in is a lot of sand. The patio and side bar were transformed into an island paradise even the governor of Hawaii would envy. Many people commented that it would be nice to keep the patio the way it was permanently. I haven't seen a spread of food like that since my Aunt Mable's wake. Oh, those Mai Tais. I was rather disappointed in the crowd. It seemed to be everyone was waiting around for "something" to happen. Maybe it was a lack of entertainment this year. I didn't seem to have as much fun as in previous years either. This certainly was not the fault of the Connection. Several suggestions have been made to supply a bit more shade on the patio and perhaps even piping music outside. All in all, the luau was its usual festive self. Congrats, Dale and crew on a very tasteful yearly event.

It's been years since I've been to the Unlimited. So I decided to go and take in the Cabaret show on Tuesday. To Del and Audrey's credit they run a very tasteful and intimate bar. However, it is not designed to be a show bar which contributes to the show coming up lacking. The performers have to work the floor because the stage is not nearly large enough. Perhaps much of the problem with the show stems from a lack of professional lighting. The spotlight was operated from atop the pool table with cords running head level over the floor and down the wall. The sound system is good with Angie in charge of spinning the discs. The show left much to be desired. The only refreshing part of the show was the electricity of Tamara whenever she came to the stage. She knows how to work an audience. Guest performer of the evening was Ricci Karr. Quite honestly, she wasn't on her mark that night. Ms. Karr usually is an exciting performer and I have seen nights she has "brought the house down". This particular night she didn't seem to be able to get "into" the show. Margo St. Jaynee is a nice person but her performances were weak and lacked feeling. She has great potential if she works on her staging. What the show needs is a bolstering, perhaps by a variety of guest performers from among Phoenix's finest. I expected to see a show I could enjoy but unfortunately I didn't. What added to my disappointment was the very slow and sometimes poor table service. All in all, with a great deal of work and commitment, the Unlimited can take its place among the other show bars in town. At least I hope so.

The VIP party at Grand Camel was a refreshing event. Almost every bar owner in town stopped by to wish Bill and Jim great success. A light buffet with complimentary champagne were served. The Grand Camel Club is certainly a welcome and needed addition on the Westside. Surroundings of the place lend themselves to a very comfortable evening. At the foot of the fireplace is a small dance floor surrounded by couches, tables and chairs. There is also a large game room. Meals served are moderately priced and very good. People have been screaming for a bar on the Westside for a long time. Now that it's there, support it and stop complaining.

Congratulations to Bill and Jim on what I hope will be a great success. I know going to the Grand Camel was worth a drive from the Eastside to the Westside.

Truly our cup of blessings is running over at Holy Trinity. Last Sunday's service was just filled with the sweet spirit of the Lord. Everyone in attendance was touched and the feeling of love permeated the room. Next Sunday, we have a very special treat in store for those who visit us. The service will be a very special one. YOU will enjoy it, but only if you are there.

Last Sunday's social hour was especially nice, and we celebrated a very nice guy's birthday. Hope you were not one of the few who missed it. We have several other plans in the works for our folks, so come and find out about them so you won't be left out.

Feeling down? Left out? Like no one cares? Looking for friends who really care? Need a ray of sunshine down inside. Looking for hope, a reason to go on? Family or church or friends told you that you are unworthy? Talk to us about it at Holy Trinity. God loves you and cares. He is understanding of all your needs, your desires and imperfections. All you have to do is talk it over with Him. If you don't know how, we can show you. Let us explain His love to you. We meet at 7:00 p.m. every Sunday evening at 4831 E. 22nd St. The Pastor is always available when you need to talk over problems. Remember, God loves you and so do we. Pastor Jim, 323-2424.

Six Cuban refugees are now in the care of the congregation of Casa de Cristo. They have been enrolled in English classes. Several of them are already singing in the Casa Choir. The congregation has instituted Conversational Spanish Classes on Monday evenings to help with the communication. A special thanks to the Truth Chapel MCC in Tucson for a donation to help in the caring for our Cuban friends that we are seeking to help resettle in our community.

Three new series of class training programs are beginning this week. Prospective Membership Training Classes are being held each Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. Those desiring to become a member of Casa de Cristo are required to attend a series of ten classes concerning basis Christianity and the responsibilities of local church membership. On Friday evenings at 6:30 p.m. a new series of classes are now being held for those who are considering work on the Gay Help Line. The Gay Help Line is the oldest such outreach in the Phoenix area, and is run jointly by Gay-Cos (Gay Christian Outreach Services) and Casa de Cristo. The third series of classes is being held on Sunday mornings during the Sunday School Hour at 9:30 a.m. These classes are for prospective deacons. To become a deacon in Casa de Cristo requires a year of training, six months of classes and six months serving as a novice deacon.

Rally Day is being held on Sunday, September 21. The Casa Sunday Bible School is aiming for a record attendance on that day. Sunday school held each Sunday at 9:30 a.m., is not only for children, but for young people as well as adults. We have a growing, going Sunday School to which everyone is welcome to attend. The chief text is the Bible!

On Sunday, Sept. 14, Rev. Kay will continue the series on the Holy Spirit. The sermon will be about the Gifts of the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is God acting in the world today. Who does the Holy Spirit give gifts to? What are the gifts? Why are they given?

On Wednesday, Sept. 17, there will be a rap group meeting in the "Upper Room" of Danforth Chapel, ASU Campus. The topic of discussion will be: "Is SEX dirty or is sexuality a gift from God?" This should be a very interesting evening. Come and share your opinion with us from 7 to 8 p.m.

On Wed. Sept. 24, we will continue the Bible study on "The names and images of God at 7 p.m. in the "Upper Room". Who is God? How many names and images do you know? There are many! Come and share with us and let's learn from one another. Bible study and rap groups will continue on alternate Wednesdays. What topics would you like to discuss? Call 279-5878 for directions and more information. God bless you real good, Rev. Kay.
